Camm Concrete: Building success and local pride

Committed to the Townsville region

In the span of just two years, Camm Concrete has not only emerged as a formidable force in Townsville's ready-mix concrete market, but proudly stands as the only locally owned and operated concrete business in Townsville.

The company's exceptional growth and ongoing commitment to quality and the community reflect a true success story.

What began as a modest venture at its Roseneath site with a pair of concrete trucks has expanded into a thriving enterprise boasting a fleet of 10 trucks, a testament to the escalating demand for Camm Concrete's exceptional products.

Additionally, the company has become a cornerstone employer in the region, offering opportunities to 12 local staff members.

Anticipation is building as Camm Concrete progresses with the construction of a new fixed plant at the Roseneath site, slated for completion by January 2024.

This strategic move ensures a seamless transition for the company, empowering them to efficiently meet the rising market demands.

The raw materials for Camm Concrete's top-quality mixes are sourced from Camm Quarries and Townsville Graded Sands businesses, underscoring their commitment to delivering a superior, user-friendly product.

Aiden Wherry, the Raw Materials manager for the Camm Group, shared his gratitude for the overwhelming support received during the first 12 months.

He said the company's success was not just measured in concrete but was measured in the pride they took in contributing to their local community.

"The response and support through our first 12 months has been exceptional," Mr Wherry said.

"The achievement of offering a high quality product produced by locals for the local projects is a significant milestone.

"The investment in this new plant signifies our commitment to the Townsville market and positions us well heading into the future."

As Camm Concrete continues to forge ahead, their success story becomes not only a testament to their dedication but also a source of pride for the entire Townsville community.

With local roots and a vision for the future, Camm Concrete is building not just structures but a legacy of excellence in the heart of North Queensland.
